RETAINING WALL AT ISLAND CREEK IS UP TO COUNCIL

Board of Public Works Has No Money With Which to Pay For It.

Engineer Desires to Postpone Construction.

BONDS GIVEN TO PROTECT CITY.

When the board of public works opens bids for the retaining wall on Meyers street, Mechanicsburg, at the approach to Island Creek, where sidewalks are to be built, the contractors will be informed that the board accepts all bids conditional upon the general council appropriating money for the work. It will cost approximately $3,000 to build the wall and no money will be available until the general council appropriates it.

This fact will be communicated to the general council, and it is probable that City Engineer Washington will submit a formal report setting forth the fact that if the wall is built now, it may not conform to the location of the proposed new bridge, making it necessary to do, at least, part of the work over.

For that reason Mr. Washington has opposed constructing the wall until the bridge is definitely located and the plans for it finally adopted.

In order to build sidewalks to the Island Creek crossing, it will be necessary to construct a retaining wall for about 250 feet on either side of the street. The walls will be high as the depression of the creek bed is quite deep at the Fourth street bridge. The general council endorsed the proposal to build the wall and it was then up to the board of public works to follow instructions and advertise for bids. Then the board inquired of City Solicitor James H. Campbell what money could be used for the work and was informed by him that the money will have to be appropriated by the general council.

Contract Let Tomorrow.

The contract for the construction of concrete sidewalks in Mechanicsburg will be let by the board of public works at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Several out-of-town contractors are already here and there will be a large batch of bids on hand. Bids have been sent in by all of the local contractors and as the work is to be done on the ten-year payment plan the contractors are anxious for the work, as they receive their money immediately after completion of the improvement. By this reason the city is enabled to get work done at a much cheaper price than before.

Bonds to Protect City.

Bonds to protect the city against any liability for damages arising out of the work of the First National and the City National banks, underwriting the sidewalks at their new buildings, were filed today. They are both in the sum of $5,000 and are perpetual.

A Bear Brummed.

A bear mimicked a gurgler forced his way into the tailor shop of L. L. Thompson on the first floor of the Fraternity building Sunday night, carrying off three new coats and two pairs of trousers. One suit had just been completed for City Solicitor James Campbell, while another had been made for Mr. Harry Fisher. The police are working on the robbery.

VOTES FOR WOMEN URGED.

Suffragist Party Addresses Crowd in Springfield, Ill.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—Before a large crowd on the courthouse square, Catherine Waugh McCullough, of Evanston, Mrs. Eugene M. Stacey, of Decatur, and Mrs. Myra Hagan, of Harrison, of the suffragist flying squadron, which is touring Illinois in behalf of the ballot for women, delivered addresses.

Mrs. McCullough condemned legislative corruption and declared her hope of the state indicated to her that Republicans and Democrats are going to retire from the legislature. Those members of that body who voted for Lorimer for United States senator she urged the voters to pledge their candidates for the legislature to woman suffrage.

Irish Object to Pictures.

Dublin, Aug. 22.—The Catholic church has started a crusade against the defilement of the Irish people. On their first production in Ireland today the archbishop of Dublin protested to the mayor. The campaign will be organized and pushed in England as well as Ireland.

State's Attorney Wayman Begins Effort to Open Illinois Jackpot Case Before Court in Chicago

State's Case for Prosecution
at the Second Trial of Lee
O'Neal Browne, Minority
Leader of Legislature.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The real commencement of the Lee O'Neal Browne trial came today when State's Attorney Wayman presented the state's case of the famous case. If Judge Kersten sustains the point of law made by Wayman the entire legislative jackpot will be revealed. White will go on the stand today. He has been under guard ever since the first trial, in order to combat any attempt for him to change his testimony. Wayman's address today was largely a recital of the first trial.

Browne was the minority leader in the lower house of the last general assembly at Springfield, and he is accused in the confessions of three Democrats, who broke from their party nonline and supported Lorimer for United States senator, with being a party to bribing them.

At the last trial of Browne the jury disagreed and the state's attorney declared it had been tampered with. During the effort to secure a jury for this trial, detectives visited the homes of voters and used persuasion and intimidation to make them lenient toward the defendant. The judge discharged one whole panel because it had been tampered with.

TO REGULATE IMMIGRATION.

Entry of Russian Jews Through Galveston to Be Closely Watched.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The entry of Russian Jews through Galveston to the port of Galveston, Tex., will be regulated more closely in the future. Department of commerce and labor officials reached this decision after an investigation which convinced the immigration authorities that the laws have been loosely enforced.

Three clipboards of Russian Jews have landed at Galveston since June 24. The latest arrived last Wednesday. The action of department officials in refusing admission to the two Jewish immigrants on board has been the subject of protest.

While the department disavows any intention of discriminating against that class of immigrants, Assistant Secretary Cable is determined the immigration standards at Galveston shall come up to those required at other ports.

Admission of New Holiness Road.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—The Illinois Holiness association, in annual campmeeting here today, elected officers as follows: President, the Rev. W. A. Ashbrook, Springfield; first vice president, the Rev. D. W. Rose, Keokuk; second vice president, J. M. Williamson, Virginia; treasurer, C. S. Keech, Springfield; secretary, Thomas Mason, Springfield; first assistant secretary, W. A. Nickey, Springfield.

Youth Killed at Baseball.

Columbus, O., Aug. 22.—Wayne Hinkle, aged 13, Ohio State University student, was struck over the heart with a pitched ball while playing baseball at Ely Hall on Lake Erie today, and died a short time afterwards.

Eisen, Germany, Aug. 22.—Three bodies have been removed from the army experimental laboratory which was wrecked by an explosion today.

DIED OF STARVATION.

Yet This Old Woman Was Possessed of a Fortune.

Paris, Aug. 22.—An old beggar woman named Descombes died a few days ago of starvation. She was buried by the assistance public, and her neighbors subscribed to buy a wreath. After the funeral the miserable room occupied by the old woman in the Rue Villin was entered, and when the bed was moved preparatory to disinfection—for the room was in a disgusting state—a number of gold coins rolled to the floor. Then it was found that the old woman, who for years had scraped out a miserable existence by begging and a small allowance from the public assistance, had a little fortune of about $2,800. Such cases are strikingly frequent in France.

Sulphur, Okla., Aug. 22.—Arthur Ballinger, a Washington attorney, today told the tire investigating committee he held contracts that would have netted him $5,400,000 in commissions. He stated he held the contracts with about 4,000 individuals claiming citizenship in the Chickasaw and Choctaw nations. His fees were paid on 40 per cent of $4,000 to $5,000 received on the claims.

LABOR DAY COMMITTEE URGING ATTENDANCE

The program committee for the Labor Day celebration at Wallace park met at Central Labor hall yesterday morning but no business was transacted. This afternoon Martin Kelly and Don Martin left for Memphis to urge a large attendance here on Labor Day, while Otto Hamilton went to Mayfield yesterday. Wood Robertson will go to Cairo to arouse interest tomorrow.

Murray will send a big delegation with a band.

WAS WELLS' POT OF GOLD AT END OF THE RAINBOW?

Strange Voice Declares Young Man is Victim of Conspiracy.

He Returns to Paducah From the Asylum.

CONTINUES IN PUBLIC EVE.

When some one, representing himself to be Dr. J. E. Henders, of the Western Kentucky Asylum, staff called up The Evening Sun and informed a reporter that Charles H. Wells, was not insane but the victim of a conspiracy in Calloway county. It was learned that Wells had made his way from Hopkinsville to Paducah and that Dr. Henders had not been in Paducah, and had not called up the newspaper to make that startling allegation.

Wells will be remembered as the young man who created a sensation a year or more ago, by telling the newspaper boys that he had discovered a pot, containing $5,000 in gold, in the interest of saw mill foundations. This gold was sold in Cincinnati at a premium of almost 50 per cent.

That was the end of Charles H. Wells, as far as publicity was concerned, until a few months ago, when he was declared insane by a jury in the county court at Murray, and sent to Hopkinsville.

The voice, impersonating Dr. Henders over the phone, said Wells' eyes had been injured by a severe illness, but that he was not insane. Dr. Henders said over the phone that the only mania Wells exhibited there was with regard to the gold, and, of course, they did not know whether he had ever found any gold.

Judge Patterson at Murray said there was no question about Wells' peculiar actions prior to his lunacy inquest, and reputable physicians and his own family considered him self not responsible. Judge Wells said the young man's father, John Wells, is seen by him frequently, and the father is convinced at his son's irresponsibility. Judge Patterson said the pot of gold is mythical. Wells made his way to Paducah several days ago and made himself known to County Judge Barkley. He is supposed to be around here yet.

RECRUITS, WHO ARE SAID TO BE HARD HITTERS—GAMES TRANSFERRED.

Kyle and Decker, two new Red Skins, made their first appearance at League park this afternoon with the Indians. Decker is covering third sack and Kyle is stationed in right field. They reached Paducah yesterday evening and come recommended as top notchers and good men with the willow. Pat Runyan is tossing the sphere this afternoon for the Indians and Demario is opposing him. Both Paducah and Hopkinsville have taken a game out of the series, today's game being the last. Paducah goes to Clarksville by agreement, playing there tomorrow, Wednesday and Thursday. The game scheduled between Paducah and Clarksville at the Tennessee city for Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be played at Paducah. The transfer was made because Sunday ball is not allowed in Clarksville. After Clarksville, McLeansville will be here for three games with Vincennes and Hopkinsville.

BLIND HORSE SMASHES FURNITURE WINDOW

Cairo, Ill., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—A blind horse ran away this morning and crashed into one of the hand-painted show windows of the Rhodes-turf company, completely smashing a $300 bed room set. The wagon hung up on the casements and this is all that prevented the horse from going on through the store. No one was injured.

Forest Fires in Northwest Which Destroyed Towns and Many Lives Continue Unchecked by Fighters

Score or More of Rangers
Are Not Accounted For—
Situation on Mountain
Slopes Increasingly Serious

Spokane, Aug. 22.—Today's reports indicate that the situation is worse today than it was yesterday. There were more alarming developments today in the St. Croix district, near the state line, where 200 rangers are said to be surrounded with little hope of escape.

It is reported that 138 fire fighters have been burned to death at Avery, Idaho, today. Two thousand refugees are quartered at Missoula. Scores are permanently blind by heat and smoke, almost nude, and some terribly burned. The troops are exhausted but more are being sent from Spokane.

Spokane, Aug. 22.—There is scarcely any sign of abatement in the forest fires which Saturday and Sunday wiped out Walla, Idaho, and several other towns. Upwards of 40 persons have perished and millions of dollars in property have been destroyed. It is yet impossible to estimate the loss. The death list will not be less than 40 and may exceed 75. Reports from the St. Joe country say that 175 forest rangers, fighting the fire, have not been accounted for.

Mercilessly and relentlessly forest fires in western Montana and Idaho are sweeping over a vast area, driving hundreds of fugitives before them, destroying small settlements and wiping out of existence millions of dollars worth of property.

The situation is more serious than it has ever been, except as to Wallace, Idaho, where it is believed that nearly half of the city will be saved. Communication with Wallace to the west has been possible at intervals, but eastward it is entirely cut off. It is known that the seventh east half of the town above Seventh street has been burned.

West of that a hard fight is being made and with an improvement in the water supply there is more chance that the flames may be driven back. For a few minutes the Daily Missoulian's reporter at Wallace had a wire. He summarized the situation as follows:

Thirteen lives lost; property loss of $1,000,000; fire still threatening. Elsewhere in the fire zone the situation has gone from bad to worse. The most serious incidents are reported from the St. Croix country, where 180 men engaged in the forestry service are missing, and it is feared they have been burned to death.

When the fire approached the camp where there were 200 men, two of the fighters took a horse, and riding the animal to death, rode from the camp and ordered a rescue party which penetrated the fire to Bird Creek.

Eighteen of the men were found in the water, where they had gone for safety and they were unharmed. Relief Train Out.

From the remaining 180 men no word has been received. A relief train, well equipped with pack animals, has been ordered, carrying provisions and hospital supplies, and will endeavor to get through the fire. About a thousand refugees have been brought into Missoula. There is much distress among them, but their wants are being supplied by Missoula people and they have been given temporary homes.

The first of the trains came in over the Northern Pacific's Couer d'Alene branch and brought the patients who had been in the Sisters' hospital at Wallace and as many refugees as could find places on the small train.

There were 250 on this train and a second train brought as many more. These people came from the small towns along the line between here and Wallace. Many of them had been roused from their sleep by the people on the train, whose summons had been the first intimation that the fire was near as there had been no sign of it when the people went to bed Saturday night.

In most instances these people escaped only scantily clad. A woman who had fled from her home at midnight gave birth to a child in a box car just after the arrival of the first train at Missoula. Hospitals are caring for the sick. Missoula homes have been opened freely and the homeless are comfortable for the present.

Town of Taft Burns.

Another train with 500 people on board is expected over the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound railway. A dense pall of smoke hangs all over eastern Montana. In Missoula it was as dark as midnight at 5 o'clock, the dense smoke giving a lurid blue which had the appearance of the glow of fire, which was probably due to the sun.

The town of Taft, near the Idaho line, was entirely destroyed by fire before daylight.

Saltco, just below Taft, has been abandoned by its inhabitants and is known to be surrounded by fire. Duborgia is seriously threatened and one man is missing.

At St. Regis the fire has crossed the river and threatens outlying buildings, though no fears are entertained for the town.

Incendiarism Responsible.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Incendiarism is now believed to be responsible in a large measure for the spread of the devastating forest fires in Oregon and the northwest, in which millions of feet of valuable timber has gone up in smoke and millions more threatened. Acting Forester Albert F. Potter received advice from Supervisor Buck, of Medford, Oregon, stating that the continued spread of the fire in southern Oregon revealed clearly the work of incendiaries. Potter would not discuss even inferentially what may be the purpose of the fire bug, pending an official report of the forest rangers now engaged in rounding up the definite evidence.

Rich Timber Going Down.

Butte, Mont., Aug. 22.—A miners' special from Bozeman says: A dangerous fire is raging under a high wind several miles south of here. It has just crossed Mount Ellis and is invading some of the most valuable timber of the region.

The fire has progressed through the forest at the rate of more than a mile an hour and the powerful flames have been visible several hours at a distance of seven or eight miles in the daylight. It is not possible to get the extent of the burned area, but it is many square miles. Forest Supervisor Conklin has been calling for a hundred men to fight the fire, but thus far only 35 have responded. They have been sent to the front.

After Incendiarism.

Washington, Aug. 22.—The forestry service today wired Assistant Forester Buck at Medford, Oregon, to use the most urgent methods to apprehend the men who are supposed to have deliberately set the Oregon forest fires. At the same time an appeal was sent to Washington for more troops.

JOE CANNON NOT A PARTY ASSET

HIS SPEECHES ARE NOT IN DEMAND BY REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES.

Washington, Aug. 22.—It became known here today that the services of Speaker Cannon are "not desired" by the Republican congressional campaign. Cannon will not be given speaking dates. The statement was made by a Republican leader, who professed to have positive knowledge that Cannon's services would not be solicited. The reason given is that Cannon devoted his Kansas speeches, and other statements to open fighting against the insurgents. Others believe the least said about this will be better.

Wholesalers' Display

Covington Brothers' whole sale grocery dealers, have secured two booths for the fall fair and will give an attractive display of their goods. All of the 16 spaces have now been called for. Inquiries regarding the fair and displays are coming in rapidly to Secretary Rodney Davis. Mr. Davis leaves tomorrow for Chicago and his place will be filled temporarily by Mr. Rankin Kirkland.

Examination of Teachers

Examinations for applicants for certificates to teach in the Paducah public schools will be held on the second floor of the High school building Thursday and Friday. The examinations will begin promptly at 9 o'clock Thursday morning and will be in charge of Mrs. John Dorian and Prof. A. M. Ragadale, comprising the board of examiners. This will be the last examination to be held this semester.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Chilly weather is on its way, according to the general forecast for the coming week, issued by Prof. Will's L. Moore chief of the weather bureau. The chilly wave will begin its sweep across the country the middle of the week, starting from the northwest coast by Friday or Saturday. Its appearance will be rendered the more disagreeable by reason of the fact that it will be preceded by moderately warm weather, so that the drop in temperature will be more severely felt. As a result of the sudden change there will be almost continuous showers in the southeastern states.

During last week temperatures slightly below the normal ruled throughout the country, and there were light frosts in the extreme north west.

VICTIM IS MUCH IMPROVED.

While attempting to quiet a disturbance at a "moonlight" at Elva Miller's home near Woodville, Harry Mansfield was stabbed in the left breast Saturday night by Jonah Starks, 16 years old, of Ballard county. Starks made his escape and is said to be in Illinois.

Mansfield's wound, while near a vital spot, is thought not to be necessarily fatal. He is improving today. It is the custom in the rural sections during the period of the full moon to hold what they call "moonlights," on Saturday nights, when barbecue, ice cream and dancing are enjoyed by the young people of the neighborhood. Sometimes the swains fill up on "moonshine" so as to be harmless without and within, and trouble comes of the combined spell of the moonlight and moonshine. It was at one of these social functions near Ocar, Ballard county, that Cril Haynes was shot the Saturday night before.

Mansfield stands high in the community around Woodville.

MOVIES IGNORE LEWIS.
Closing Convention Pass Laws Over Him—He Will Contest.

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 22.—The special international convention of United Mine Workers adjourned sine die early today after adopting the substitute report, with two amendments, and practically all of the delegates, with the exception of the International executive board, have returned home after being in session here ten days.

The substitute report, submitted by William Green, former president of the Ohio district, with the two amendments, provide for an assessment of one dollar per week on all miners working; the endorsement of all strikes; the dismissal of International organizers and the criticism of the International board.

By filibustering the Lewis faction kept the substitute from coming to a vote until all of the strikers had been endorsed and the assessment included in the provision. The amendment for the assessment was made by President Hewitt of the Southwest district, which is on strike.

Before taking a vote on the substitute President Lewis announced that all points in the substitute conflicting with the constitution would not become law. He declared the dismissal of the organizers and the section criticizing the International board, which he said had not exceeded its authority in Illinois, were unconstitutional.

It is estimated the convention cost the miners of the country close to $100,000.

LISBON PROTESTS

PORTUGUESE GOVERNMENT AIRS ITS COMPLAINTS.

Portugal Claims Vatican Has Raised Difficulties About Appointment of Ambassador.

Lisbon, Aug. 22.—The government of Portugal has made a protest of the Vatican against what it considers the objectionable attitude of the papal nuncio at Lisbon, Mr. D. J. Tond, during the present period of tension between Lisbon and the Vatican. A semi-official communication published today says that the Portuguese charge d'affaires at the holy see, M. O'Connor Martins, has presented the matter to the pope, explaining that the attitude of the nuncio is displacing the government.

M. Martins is acting in the absence of the Portuguese ambassador at the Vatican, this being one of the grievances over which the difficulty arose. The Vatican raised difficulties about a new appointment to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the last ambassador, Senor Martins del Aatas, to which the Portuguese government responded by deciding to allow the post to remain vacant for the present.

Further difficulties arose over the action of the Roman Catholic archbishop of Braganca in suppressing a Portuguese newspaper published in Portugal without submitting the order to the Portuguese government for approval for which he was censured by the government and his action nullified.

A bill drafted by the minister of justice providing that the civil authorities instead of the clergy should keep the register of births, deaths and marriages, which threatens a considerable source of income to the clergy, is also causing friction.

Bucket Shop Men Are Held.

Canton, O., Aug. 22.—Harry Rex, former Cleveland stock broker, and his brother and associate, Ralph Rex, have been arrested by Sheriff Chas. Marlow, of Tuscarawas county, on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses and intent to defraud by running a "bucket shop."

P. L. Melcherhofer, of the Pittsburgh office of the Itey Commission company, and W. M. Lyons, of the new Philadelphia office, were arrested at New Philadelphia at the same time.

The charges were filed by Adam Swab and J. Smith, of New Philadelphia, customers of the firm.

McKinley to Aid Cannon.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 22.—Congressman William H. McKinley, chairman of the Republican national congressional committee, with headquarters in Chicago, at his home in Champaign, Ill., today vigorously denied he would oppose the re-election of Speaker Cannon to the chair of the national house of representatives. "I am Mr. Cannon's friend, and if he is a candidate for the speakership, I shall certainly vote for him," was the way Mr. McKinley declared himself when he was told of the report that he had deserted the Cannon standard.

$3,000,000 for Aerial Fleet.

Rome, Aug. 22.—Early next year Italy will have an aerial fleet for which parliament has voted an appropriation of $3,000,000. Twenty-four dirigible balloons are to be constructed during the coming autumn and winter, 12 on the plan of the existing military airship and 12 of a larger pattern. Two airships will be attached to each army corps and a special corps of aeronauts will be formed.

Fined for Selling Fake Jewels.

New York, Aug. 22.—Simon Terrace, a manufacturing jeweler of No. 281 Grand street, was fined $250 yesterday in the court of special sessions for selling as 14-karat gold bracelets which assayed 3 1/2 to 1 1/2 karats. Terrace had the alternative of going to the penitentiary for 60 days. His brother-in-law, Moses Cohen, who is a salesman in the place was given a suspended sentence.

COMPLAINTS FROM NORTHERN AND CENTRAL GEORGIA.

August Fruitage Has Been Heavy in the Majority, and Crop Is Now in the Best State.

TEXAS RAINFALL TOO LIGHT.

Memphis, Aug. 22.—Unfavorable reports come from Texas and northern and central Georgia. Elsewhere with local exceptions the crop is now in the best state of promise of the season. The August fruitage has been heavy and the plant is thrifty and growing. In Oklahoma, with an average of late frost, the largest crop within a number of years will be harvested.

No shedding is reported except in the dry districts as above. The bolls on the plant are still young and continued favorable weather is needed for their proper development, while the general fatness of the plant in the matter of growth makes a late frost very desirable. With such a frost assured the general crop prospect would be favorable.

Telegraphic reports up to Sunday night show that Texas had no general rainfall during the week and that deterioration of the crop has been checked over a limited and scattered territory, comprised mainly of the lower Panhandle and northern and extreme western central Texas. The heavy movement in the south and southwest is the result of rapid and premature opening of bolls. The crop is now nearly matured.

Red weevils have destroyed considerable cotton in Louisiana and southern Mississippi, but elsewhere have not been an important factor with the crop.

News of Theatres

At the Star Theater.
The particular feature act at the Star Theater for the first three days of the week will be Sidney Forester and Miss May Lloyd who present an up-to-date comedy sketch and from the start it is easy to see that they are artists. Mr. Forester is a composite of the highest class. The "Show Girl" which was so popular for the last few seasons is his work, and the selections he presents in his act are of the very best, this should be sufficient guarantee of the work of the team. Miss Lloyd presents some character dances that call for numerous encores.

In Keller and Grogan we have a great combination. Keller is a wrestler and Grogan a blind piano player. The two have been together for sometime and the press claim for this act as being the very best of its kind now on the vaudeville stage. A good illustrated song sung by Frank Long and two reels of motion pictures will also be on the program at each performance. Admission 10c. Children 5c.

The Law and Order Movement.
A man descended from an excursion train and was nearly making his way to the street car followed by his wife and fourteen children, when a policeman touched him on the shoulder and said:
"Come along with me."
"What for?"
"Blamed if I know; but when you're locked up I'll go back and find out why that crowd was following you."—Everybody's Magazine.

Physician—Have you any aches or pains this morning? Patient—Yes, doctor; it hurts me to breathe; in fact, the only trouble now seems to be with my breath. Physician—All right. I'll give you something that will soon stop that.—Good Housekeeping.

MONEY SITUATION IS MUCH BETTER

PROSPECTS OF MONEY SQUEEZE REDUCED.

Politics Causes Some Apprehension And Produces Inactivity on Market.

CROP OUTLOOK IS PROMISING.

New York, Aug. 22.—We are now in a stage of the year when conditions are least favorable to activity. It is vacation time and the number of absentees is large. Our harvest still possesses some uncertainties, and it is the period between seasons when commercial operations are generally at a minimum. Such conditions are, of course, not calculated to stimulate activity. Nevertheless, the tendencies are towards improvement and the inertia which now exists in the business world is what was most needed to permit of readjustment and lay the basis for a fresh recovery later on.

The greatest betterment has been in the monetary situation. Owing to recent pressure exerted by banks in all parts of the country, prospects of a money squeeze this autumn which once caused considerable apprehension have now been reduced to a minimum. At worst there is nothing to be feared except possibly local and temporary stringency when the crops move. The Eastern banks have greatly strengthened their resources, and will be abundantly able to meet any interior demands. Liquidation has also materially strengthened the interior. The surplus reserve of the New York banks is now over $55,000,000, having shown a remarkable rise in the past five or six weeks. We have already imported about $20,000,000 of gold, which has proved sufficient, although only half of the $40,000,000 which it was anticipated would be required a few weeks ago. The improvement in the local banking situation has been so pronounced as to discourage further gold imports, unless there be a sudden and unexpected increase in merchandise exports. Bankers are now pursuing a more liberal policy towards their customers, and the demand for commercial paper has correspondingly improved. As business operations had previously been materially curtailed through pressure from banking sources the relief in the latter quarter should in due time make itself manifest in great business activity. At present general trade is very quiet. Buyers have been pursuing a hand-to-mouth policy, and many establishments in the iron, textile, leather and other industries have been obliged to materially reduce their output. It is recognized that the whole country has entered a stage of overproduction, which is due partly to diminished purchasing power, and partly to an excessive enlargement of producing capacity. This readjustment between production and consumption, or supply and demand, cannot be immediately accomplished, but the evil is fully recognized and the curative process is now fully under way. As already said, the rest cure is working out beneficial results, and it is likely, as of old, to prove the best restorative known.

Politics.

Some uneasiness is felt regarding the political situation; but it must be remembered that the actual effect of politics upon business is generally less in fact than in sentiment. When economic conditions become sounder, business will promptly rally with comparatively little regard to politics. Our foreign trade, though showing very unsatisfactory results for the entire fiscal year, is at last giving signs of return to the normal. Though imports continue very heavy, amounting to $117,000,000 in July, or nearly $5,000,000 in excess of last year, exports reached $114,500,000, or a little more than $5,000,000 in excess of the same month of last year. The July exports have been only exceeded once—in the banner year 1907; and there has been a steady gain over last year each month since February. Our imports have, as everyone knows, been stimulated by business activity, high prices and general extravagance; our purchases of luxuries from Europe, particularly precious stones, being remarkably heavy. The present tendency, however, towards economy, lessened activity, and lower prices will eventually have the effect of discouraging imports and stimulating exports; thus bringing our foreign trade back to more normal conditions. It is unfortunate that our crops this year are not larger, but some offset to this drawback will be found in increasing shipments of manufactured articles. Europe will be obliged to buy our cotton freely at good prices, and this will be an important factor in adjusting our trade balances. Our exports of food products, however, promise to be strictly moderate, as we have relatively little to spare and our prices are still too high to tempt foreign buying. During the first six months Europe was a liberal purchaser of our securities, to which cause we are no doubt indebted for recent gold imports in face of an adverse merchandise balance. It is hardly to be expected that foreign capital will flow into the United States with the same freedom in the latter half of 1910 as in the first

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her

Knoxville, Iowa.—"I suffered with pains low down in my right side for a year or more and was so weak and nervous that I could not do my work. I wrote to Mrs. Pinkham and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am glad to say that your medicines and kind letters have done more for me than anything else and I had the best physicians here. I can do my work and rest well at night. I believe there is nothing like the Pinkham remedies." Mrs. CLARA FRANKS, R. F. D., No. 3, Knoxville, Iowa.

The success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, is unparalleled. It may be used with perfect confidence by women who suffer from displacements, indigestion, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills, and suffering women owe it to themselves to at least give this medicine a trial. Proof is abundant that it has cured thousands of others, and why should it not cure you?

If you want special advice write Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for it. It is free and always helpful.

half; and the situation is now less favorable to gold imports.

Stocks.

The technical situation of the stock market has been visibly strengthened. The conviction spreads that the low prices at the end of July will not be seen again for some time to come. Although the recovery from the break has been sharp, perhaps too sharp, a good many stocks are still good purchases from the investment point of view. For the time being the investment demand has been checked, but confidence is steadily growing and our prominent bankers and financial leaders are daily becoming more and more confident regarding the future. This is shown by improvement in the bond market. There are still several uncertainties such as the crops, the political outlook, the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases, the question of railroad rates, etc., which are to be settled, but the worst respecting these it would seem has been fully discounted. Very soon two of the pivotal crops, corn and cotton, will be out of danger. The prospects for these are still improving. Corn promises to reach about a 3,000,000,000 yield, and current estimates are for 12,000,000,000 bales of cotton, which is showing less deterioration in August than usual. There is still the danger of early frost, but each week reduces the area liable to such damage. Spring wheat crop is already turning out better than expected. After the Labor Day holidays business should begin to resume more normal activity. The vacations will be over and the stock market should feel a corresponding inspiration. Altogether the outlook is reasonably cheerful. The process of readjustment has been thorough in the stock market, and is now being worked out in industrial and commercial quarters. There is no reason for undue apprehension; on the contrary there is sound reason for believing that after a further period of rest the whole country will be entitled to a fresh forward movement upon a lower and more normal plane.

Care of Valuable Books.

When the million and a half dollars worth of books, prints, volumes in rare bindings, manuscripts, and illuminations that are the especial care of Mr. Eames at the Lenox Library journey down to their new home at Forty-second street and Fifth avenue some time in the fall they will find a suite of rooms waiting for them. Here they will be arranged in cases around the walls in the same chronological order in which they are placed in their present home.

The cases will have strong, firmly woven wire doors which lock securely. The chief enemies of books are dust and lack of air, and the chief problem in their care is how to combat both at the same time. Glass doors were abolished some time ago at the Lenox Library because of their injurious effect on fine bindings through keeping out the air, and the doors used in the new library will be of woven wire, similar to those which were substituted, but finer meshed. As for dust, what comes in must come in, but the endeavor will be to keep it out.—New York Sun.

There were nearly 3,000 entries at the International Horse Show recently held in London.

LEGISLATURE OF TENN. IMPORTANT

WILLING TO SACRIFICE PATTERSON FOR IT.

Independent Democrats and Republicans Will Combine on That Ticket.

HOOPER IS SURE OF SUPPORT.

Nashville, Tenn., Aug. 22.—There will be no Independent Democratic candidate for governor nominated in Tennessee this year. It is the fixed policy of leaders of the Independent faction to support the Republican nominee.

The fusion understanding or whatever else it may be called between the Independent Democrats and Republicans through which such a victory for a non-partisan judiciary was won August 4, will be carried through the approaching gubernatorial campaign as the best and most certain way to accomplish the defeat of Patterson and rid the state of political machine methods.

Fusion Will Stand.

The issue has been clearly drawn. It is anti-Pattersonism vs. Pattersonism. There is no disposition on the part of Independent leaders to compromise on a single point. They are determined to carry out the fusion with Republicans. In this they are backed by the rank and file of the anti-machine Democrats.

They believe the only hope for the success of Gov. Patterson and his forces in November would be the nomination of an Independent Democratic candidate for governor. Those Democrats opposed to Patterson and his policies will have the alternative of voting for the Republican nominee or of staying at home.

Want Legislature Most.

Rumors are current that administrationists would be willing to a sacrifice of their nominee to see him withdraw if they could hope to control the next general assembly and repeal the temperance and election laws. It is rumored, in other words, that the administration forces might be willing to reward any man or men now ranked with the Independents who might be willing to assist the administration in its efforts to elect a majority of the next legislature. There is no indication, however, that this plan will work, for those Democrats who supported the Independent Judiciary ticket are standing pat with singular unanimity, declaring that the Republicans stood by them in the recent Judiciary campaign, and they in turn propose to act in entire good faith with the Republicans, supporting the nominee of Tuesday's convention.

There has been speculation as to whether there is likely to be a joint discussion between Captain Hooper and Governor Patterson. It is confidently predicted that there is no likelihood of such. Both nominees will take the stump early in September and will carry on an active, aggressive campaign throughout the state.

Is a Fight With Details.

While Tennessee has never seen a more strenuous campaign than that which ended with the Judiciary election August 4, the campaign between now and November promises to be more strenuous. In addition to electing a governor and railroad commissioner next November, the people will elect a new general assembly. It will be a fight of numerous details, in which administrationists and Independent Democrats and Republicans will use every effort to elect a majority of members of the next law-making body.

Would Interfere With the Fair.

Columbus, O., Aug. 20.—Gov. Harmon is bending every energy to bring about a settlement of the street car strike here before the state fair opens on August 29. Entries for the fair open Saturday, and there is a fear that if the strike is continued the fair may be postponed. The governor says he will keep the troops here at least until after the state fair in case the strike is not settled before that time.

HOT-WEATHER CONSTIPATION

People should be very careful at this time of the year not to become constipated, and if they do become constipated to attend to it promptly. Many people have a special tendency to constipation in hot weather, owing to the sudden change in food and to the fact that the natural moisture of the body that in winter remains within and helps to digest the food, leaves the system in the summer in the form of perspiration. Constipation should be immediately relieved. The best way to do this is not, as some suppose, by eating themselves sick with fruit and making the matter worse, nor by taking salts and laxative waters, which, as all who have tried them know, give but temporary relief; but, on the contrary, you should use a tried-and-true remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts quickly but mildly and which relieves permanently so that a steady and lasting cure results. A bottle can be bought of any druggist, in sizes of 50 cents and $1.00. Those who have not yet tried Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and would like to make a test of it, can do so FREE OF CHARGE by sending their address for a SAMPLE BOTTLE to

PRINCETON LEADER SOLD.

Princeton, Ky., Aug. 22.—The Princeton Leader, for the past several years owned and operated by Patient Hros., has been purchased by Richard D. Forbes, of Quarryville, Pa. The new owner will take charge of the paper September 1, and will continue to conduct it as a twice-a-week Democrat.

Body of Unknown Woman.

Glasgow, Ky., Aug. 22.—So far all efforts to identify the body of the unknown woman who died yesterday at the home of Mr. H. P. Line, in Hart county, have failed, and the remains will be interred in the Hubbard burying ground. Five weeks ago a lame woman, in destitute circumstances, came to the Line home and offered to work as a domestic for food and shelter. She gave her name as Mrs. Rude Thomas, but refused to talk of her life. A short time later she was stricken desperately ill, and it became necessary to have an operation. Physicians informed her of the seriousness of the case and begged her to notify her relatives. She said she had three children, and though she knew she was dying, she refused to give their names or tell of their whereabouts.

Mr. John Thomas, of near the Harten and Meigs county line, was notified and came to review the remains, but failed to identify them as his sister, whom he had not seen for ten years.

Victim of Kissing Bug.

Glasgow, Ky., Aug. 22.—"Aunt Julia" Kirkpatrick, an aged and well-known lady near Floyd's Landing, in Cumberland, was bitten on the face by a kissing bug, and is in a critical condition. The bug bit or stung the lady in two places, on the eye and near the mouth. The eye is swollen to twice its natural size. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was sleeping near the window without screens, and the bug flew in and bit her and away before being killed. Some few years ago the people of this section were given great trouble by the "kissing bug," but this is the first one reported for some time.

Body of Negro Is Found in Water.
Summerset, Ky., Aug. 22.—While Thomas Hodgecroft, a boy, was playing with a companion, near a pond just east of the city limits, they discovered the hand of a person above the water and gave the alarm, and when help had been secured the body was removed from the pond and found to be that of Charles Allen, a well known colored man. His hands were tied securely behind him, and the body gave every appearance of having been in the water for several days, and it is not known just how long he had been in the pond. Although the finding of his hands behind him in such hard knots as to look impossible for him to have done himself, the general theory is that he committed suicide.

Brother Arrested.
Newcastle, Ky., Aug. 22.—A startling sequel to the finding of the body of Will Whitolt in the Kentucky river with his skull crushed in the arrest of his brother, Ezra Whitolt, and Mrs. Helen Johnson Harp, suspected of having a part in the death of Whitolt. Charges of murder have been placed against them.

Mrs. Harp lives with her mother and sister at the mouth of Stevens creek, near Monterey. The body of Whitolt was found not far from here. It is claimed that both brothers were friendly to Mrs. Harp and had quarreled about her.

MAYOR MEACHAM IS NOT IMPEACHED AT HOPTOWN.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 22.—By unanimous vote the city council dismissed the case against Mayor Chas. M. Meacham, charged by Attorney Stanley Hawsitt with having had printing contracts with the city in violation of the statutes. The council, after hearing argument in the case, decided that under the charter of fourth class cities, it had no jurisdiction in the matter, the attorney general being the only officer authorized by law to prosecute charges for a mayor's removal. Attorney Hawsitt argued that Mayor Meacham had vacated the office upon the alleged fact of accepting city printing. Attorney J. W. Downer appeared for Mayor Meacham. City Attorney Brasher upheld the view of law taken by Attorney Downer and the case was dismissed.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bad-willing. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, South Bend, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful treatment, with full instructions. Read no more, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

Touching Memories Recalled.
There were introductions all around. The big man stared in a puzzled way at the club guest. "You look like a man I've seen somewhere, Mr. Blunker," he said. "Your face seems familiar. I fancy you have a double. And a funny thing about it is that I remember I formed a strong prejudice against the man who looks like you—although, I'm quite sure, we never met."

The little guest softly laughed. "I'm the man," he answered. "And I know why you formed the prejudice. I passed the contribution plate for two years in the church you attended."—Everybody's Magazine.

Shelton Bros. vs. steamer "G. W. Robertson."

Whereas, a libel has been filed in the district court of the United States for the western district of Kentucky, at Paducah, on August 1, 1910, by George Shelton, trading and doing business under the firm name of Shelton Bros., mechanic and iron master, as libellant, in a cause of contract civil and maritime, against the steamer "G. W. Robertson," her tackle, apparel and furniture, alleging in substance that said boat is indebted to him in the sum of $1,516.16, for work and material furnished, that same has never been paid, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in said steamer, her tackle, apparel, machinery and furniture, may be cited to appear and answer the premises and all due proceedings being had and the said steamer may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law.

Therefore, in pursuance of said monition, under the seal of said court, to me directed and delivered on the 1st day of August, 1910, I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest in the said steamer "G. W. Robertson," her tackle, apparel, machinery and furniture, to appear before the said court, in the city of Paducah, in said district, on the 5th day of September, 1910, next, at 10 o'clock forenoon of said day, then and there to answer the said libel, and to make known their allegations in that behalf.

Dated at Paducah, in said district, this 12th day of August, A. D., 1910.

Beware the Dog!
A family moved from the city to a suburban locality and were told that they should get a watch-dog to guard the premises at night. So they bought the largest dog that was for sale in the kennels of a neighboring dog fancier, who was a German. Shortly afterward the house was entered by burglars, who made a good haul, while the big dog slept. The man went to the dog fancier and told him about it. "Well, vat you need now," said the dog merchant, "is a leadle dog to vake up the big dog."—Everybody's Magazine.

VIRGINIA OF THE AIR LANES

By HERBERT QUICK
Copyright, 1909, by the Bobbs-Merrill Company

CHAPTER XVI.

A RACE WITH THE ELEMENTS.
PAST Richmond, they left the domed capital at Washington far to port, passed between Baltimore and Dover and directly over Philadelphia, where Carson made a wide circle above the vast aerial harbor, scanning the berths for a huge silver aerostat of the Condor type, but finding none. It was growing dusk, and the west and northwest were rumpeted with towering thunder heads, quivering with lightning, toward which Carson hurried the Virginia like a bullet. The town straddled suburban region of New Jersey swept under them as if drawn by swift mechanism, and the harbor of New York lay beneath, alive with shipping. The lights were already burning, and the far spread Babylon of the modern world hung like a fairy dream from the foreground to the furthest rim of the concave cup of the earth. Carson was amazed and stunned. He had never seen New York, and his ideas were all inadequate to the actualities before him. The streets flashed into sight as the Virginia passed into positions permitting a view of the bottom of one metropolitan canyon after another. The boy was afraid. The huge city rearing up at them like a raveling beast struck him with terror.

"Why dost elude about like a sand hill crane?" said Craighead. "Why don't you light?"
"Like the sand hill crane," replied Carson, "I'm afraid. Where can we alight?"
"And," said Craighead, "I never thought of that! New York has always reached out for me so lovingly that the idea of there being any difficulty in getting into her embrace never entered my brain. We are a little shy of knowledge of how to get in from above, aren't we?"
"What are the harbor rules?" asked Carson.

"Hanged if I know," replied Craighead.
It was quite dark now, save for the moon, which, nearly full, was climbing the eastern sky, still clear. To the northwest towered the pearly clouds palpitant with lightning. Craighead expected Theodore to turn the Virginia to some far New Jersey village and was astonished when he entered upon a swift flight up the Hudson, which lay shining in the moonlight, lined with the wakes of boats. Far ahead, on both sides, quivered the lightning of the storm, and from afar came the rumbling of thunder. Carson seemed to be seeking light in the heart of a thunderstorm. Craighead seized his arm and tried to glean something of his mood from a scrutiny of his face.

"I'm going to the Catskills," said Theodore. "Before I sleep I'm going to find Shyne's Hold!"
Carson crossed the Hudson in a slow drizzle at Kingston and stood north-west toward heavy dense masses of towering clouds screening the high peaks of the Catskills and Shyne's Hold.
"Why not hurdle the tempest, call it?" cried Craighead.
"Those highest towers," replied Carson, pointing to the thunder heads now again snowy in the moonlight, "are thirty, forty, fifty thousand feet high!"
"Well, what do we care?" protested Craighead.

"There's an opening yonder in the rain," said Carson. "If it doesn't close up we may slip through to the back of the storm again."

As if the wings of the advancing army had extended its lines until they pulled apart in the center, the rain opened.

"We must go lower," said Carson, "and pass under. The rain is closing in, but I reckon we can slip through pretty dry."

The oncoming black arch, lighted to whiteness when the lightning blazed, swelled fearfully as they approached, its rainless gap narrowing noisily. It was a race with the elements. The penalty if they lost was, to be sure, nothing more than a drenching, but it was none the less exciting for that. The currents of water, drawn aside as if to let the travelers through, swung together as they approached.

"Whoop!" cried Craighead. "The Virginia wins!"
As he spoke they passed under the rain cloud.
Carson was thinking of Shyne's Hold and conjecturing as to its whereabouts. If he read his chart correctly the lights seen afar to the north-east indicated that they had left the Katerskill behind and were nearing Blank Head mountain, though he confessed to himself that the crags revealed by the lightning might be the Hunter peaks or even the summits of Slide mountain. All he really knew was that he was above the Catskills and that unless he could outmaneuver the elements they faced an encounter with rain, wind and great possibilities in the way of lightning. The domes of thundercloud a few miles to their right seemed almost too much to be overpassed, so he set the levers for an ascent, and the Virginia rose like an osprey chased by an eagle.
"I'm trying your suggestion," said Carson. "I'm scaling the front of that shower."
Even Craighead's voice was hushed in awe. Like the fairy domes of some city of oriental fable rose the cloud

LONG ISLAND DOG IS UNLUCKY

CARRIES LIFE PASS AS GIFT OF PRESIDENT OF RAILROAD.

Has Been Daily Passenger for Ten Years—Made Friends with Drummer.

ENTREATIES ARE REFUSED

There is a dog on Long Island that nobody owns and that does not want anyone to own him. At the same time he probably has more friends than any other dog in the United States, and he is believed to be the only dog in the world that owns a railroad pass. His name is Roxie, and upon his collar is a brass plate with an inscription which sets forth that he is an employee of the Long Island railroad and which commands all conductors to "pass Roxie between stations."

It is said that this pass was issued to Roxie by order of the president of the road because a brakeman had tried three times to kick Roxie off the president's private car. When the president and his party inquired into the cause of the trouble between the dog and the brakeman they soon learned the dog's history, and not only was the dog made welcome to a seat in the private car at once, but the pass was issued to prevent any further interference with Roxie's peregrinations.

Roxie's occupation in life is railroad traveling. How he came to take his first ride and whom he belonged to before that time are disputed points. Roxie himself is silent on the subject, although he can express his opinion of men and things very clearly and can make his wants known.

Curiously enough, Roxie will never make a return journey with the same train crew. After he has spent a day or so with one of his acquaintances along the road, perhaps a station master or a signal tower operator or a switchman or the postmaster or the hotelkeeper, he will suddenly take a notion to go down to the station and meet a certain train.

As soon as his train comes along Roxie jumps on board and appropriates any vacant seat he can find. If he cannot find a vacant seat he will curl himself up on the floor and doze quietly until he arrives at his destination. The moment his station is called he will jump up and get to the front platform ready to make off.

After a visit of what he considers the proper length, he quietly boards another train and proceeds to some other station. It is considered lucky to have a visit from Roxie. Sometimes he goes back in the direction from which he came, sometimes he goes further along the road. He has been at every stop on the road from Montauk Point to Flatbush avenue hundreds of times during the last ten years, but has never been seen since.

As his name, and that his father always thought himself of the same blood? Virginia must allow some weight to this tradition. She must see that, while too remotely related to be objectionable in a nearer, dearer way, he was too probably of kin to have turned her away. And he would land in Shyne's Hold if it were the last act of his life.

With the ancient instinct of the surreptitious lover he made for the unobtrusive two dark wings of the great house. Glimmers of light from two windows were their sole sign of occupancy, the center of human concourse being about that core of light in the court. The wings seemed like low adjuncts for conservatories or billiard rooms, and the angle between, with its light mollities, looked like a flower sprinkled lawn on which Carson felt confident of placing the Virginia gently and with no disturbance. With a slow soaring motion the aerostat came into the angle like a steamer into her slip and found, instead of a lawn, a gravelled court cluttered with tables and chairs as if for the serving of refreshments. Among these the Virginia needed, in dumped some chairs into the court and settled down amid crackling furniture and crashing pottery.

The hoc had reached Shyne's Hold just in time to escape the storm, and the wearied Virginia had retired, sick of the harping of her aunt upon the disgrace of her solemn with "Uncle Theodore," weary of telling how innocent it had been. With a book close to the light she was composing her mind to sleep, when into the dreamy quietude came a purring that was so unmistakably the voice of the aerostat that Virginia rose, with her hand to her heart, in an amazement not all unpleasant, wondering where her name-sake might alight and what Shyne's Hold constabulary might do with Theodore, when from the roof came a scrapping, chairs and tables went over the parapet with a crash, and the voices of Craighead and Carson came in at the window, low, hurried and agitated.

Virginia turned out the dim light. "Well," said she, in answer to her maid's tap, "what is it, Fanny?"
"I heard an awful noise," said Fanny. "It seemed to come from 'ere miss."

"Some things fell into the court," replied Virginia. "Please tell the servants and say that things must be piled upon the parapet. That's all, Fanny."

known to go the entire length of the road in one journey.

As a passenger Roxie's tastes are very democratic. He does not seem to care much whether he rides in the cab with the engineer, in the baggage car, in the smoker, or in the day coaches, but he seems to have some doubt about the validity of his pass for the parlor cars and seldom ventures into them although he will enter the president private car with the utmost assurance that he will be welcome wherever an officer of the road is to be found.

Made Chum of Drummer.
Roxie does not care much for strangers, and very few persons have been able to make friends with him. One of the exceptions is a drummer who has covered the Long Island territory for a New York grocery house for the last 35 years. He happened to enter the smoking car one cold winter afternoon and to take his seat on the other side from Roxie, who was curled up ready for a nap in a double seat that had been left turned over.

A party of card players took a fancy to this seat, and one of them, who knew not Roxie, brushed him unceremoniously to the floor. Roxie, who is a perfect gentleman in all his dealings with mankind, did not make the slightest remonstrance, but gazed leisurely up and down the aisle for some place in which he would not be disturbed.

The drummer, who knew Roxie by sight and reputation, motioned to the seat beside himself, and upon Roxie's accepting the invitation the drummer covered him up with the tail of his overcoat, an attention which Roxie acknowledged by snarling wags of the tail as he dozed off. Ever since that day Roxie has made it a point to be the traveling companion of that particular drummer whenever their ways lie together.

Of course, it was said that the drummer took advantage of his fellow-citizens who are not officers of the road by giving Roxie sundry dinners and drinks, but these reports are probably due to jealousy, as many have tried to win the friendship with estates and failed. Besides, Roxie can get all he wants to eat and drink at any town on Long Island.

Roxie seldom or never barks, and he avoids trouble of all kinds, but he has a will of his own, and is not slow about asserting it. Nothing will induce him to leave a train until he has arrived at the station at which it pleases him to descend. It is useless to call to him or to try to coax him off.

When a photographer wanted to get Roxie's picture he was told that it would be impossible to get the dog off the train into the sunlight until he had arrived at his destination and that he would have to watch closely for his opportunity to appear like a flash if he happened to see the man he was going to visit. As luck would have it, the drummer already mentioned was on board and offered to get Roxie off on the platform at the next station, as he was sure Roxie was going to end his journey with him that day.

Shuts the Camera Man.
Accordingly, at the next station, out stepped the drummer, sure that Roxie would follow him, but the dog never budged, and ignored all the calls of the drummer, the conductor, the brakeman and the train butcher boy, so the effort to get his picture was given up and the train pulled out again.

Before the next station was reached the conductor had an idea and he suggested to the drummer that Roxie might have seen through the bluff as the drummer's bag was left in the rack when he went out, and he proposed that they try it again at the next stop, the drummer to take his bag down and go out with it, without taking the slightest notice of the dog.

Duped by Friend.
The trick worked to perfection, for the moment the train whistled for the station and the drummer reached for his bag Roxie jumped off the seat and shook himself. When the man with the bag reached the platform and started across the grass plot, the photographer was ready with his camera and secured the picture, duplicates of which were at once ordered by the whole train crew, the station master, the telegraph operator, the mail carrier and the hotel keeper.

But when the drummer started to mount the train again as the conductor called all aboard, the look of mingled disgust and astonishment, that came into that dog's face was unmistakable. Nevertheless, he boarded the train again and finished his journey with the drummer, but steadily refused to have anything to do with the man with the camera.

Good Old School Days.

The conductor of a western freight train saw a tramp stealing a rifle on one of the forward cars. He told the brakeman in the caboose to go up and put the man off at the next stop. When the brakeman approached the tramp the latter waved a big revolver and told him to keep away.

"Did you get rid of him?" the conductor asked the brakeman, when the train was under motion again. "I hadn't the heart," was the reply. "He turned out to be an old school friend of mine."

"I'll take care of him," said the conductor, as he started over the tops of the cars.

After the train had made another stop and gone on, the brakeman came into the caboose and said to the conductor:

"Well, he is off!"
"No; he turned out to be an old school friend of mine, too."—Everybody's Magazine.

NOAH COFFEE ESCAPES FROM THE BENTON JAIL.

Taking the jailer unawares Noah Coffee, in jail at Benton on a charge of housebreaking, effected his second get-away Saturday night and is still at large. Coffee, while serving a sentence in the Paducah jail, was found to be guilty of breaking into J. W. Province's store, at Gilbertsville, and was transferred to Benton.

After his trial several weeks ago he escaped but was captured and returned to what was thought to be a safe cell. Noah's previous knowledge of jail breaking aided him in finding his way to liberty Saturday.

The police department here has been asked to assist in the hunt for him.

Deceivers Exposed.

They are arguing about the alleged inborn strain of deceitfulness in woman, and she retaliated by citing the instances of men deceiving their wives.

"I suppose," said he, "that you hold that a man should never deceive his wife."

"Oh, no," she smiled back at him; "I shouldn't go so far as that. How would it be possible for the average man to get a wife if he didn't deceive her?"—Lippincott's

NEW ANGLE IN IN GRAFT CASE

MEN HIGHER UP IN ILLINOIS CENTRAL HIT.

"Town Will Be Shaken," Declares One Man—Arrested Men Bar. ing Real Scandal.

TO CLEAR THEIR OWN SKIRTS.

Chicago, Aug. 22.—The criminal prosecution following years of grafting by high Illinois Central officials took a peculiar and sensational turn today when former Assistant United States District Attorney Frank R. Reid opened negotiations with State's Attorney Wayman looking, it is said, to the disclosure of the real "higher up" officials, who profited to the extent of $1,500,000 in the extended mauling of the railroad.

Mr. Reid is a member of the law firm of Knight, Reid & Tyrrell, retained for the defense of Frank B. Harriman, John M. Taylor and Charles L. Ewing, former officials of the railroad, who were arrested Saturday charged with complicity and playing a confidence game. The proposition to Mr. Wayman was made in behalf of one or all three of them.

Although every effort was made to keep the Reid-Wayman conference a secret, it was learned that information was promised by one or more of the men now under arrest which would criminally involve even higher officials of the Illinois Central.

More Disclosures Likely.

"The disclosures will shake the town," was the way in which the informant put it.

Neither Mr. Reid nor State's Attorney Wayman would discuss the matter of the real opening up of the Illinois Central case. The men now under arrest cannot hope for "immunity" at this late day, but their object is said to be two-fold. The defendants, one or all of them, hope by having the real secrets of the scandal to clear their own skirts, at least in a measure, of culpability.

For weeks, while the Illinois Central directors held back the evidence needed for criminal prosecution, the idea prevailed that several men of great prominence in connection with the road would be exposed if the officials who resigned from the road along with or after the late Ira G. Rawn were put in danger of prison stripes.

Harriman Takes a Stand.

Within a week William Barry, personal attorney for Ira G. Rawn, and familiar with the late vice president's beliefs declared significantly: "There will be no criminal prosecution in the Illinois Central graft matter. The Twelfth street institution is rotten from the tower down."

Then President Harriman struck up unexpectedly signing the warrants for Harriman, Ewing and Taylor, and he told the state's attorney that he hoped that official would get to the bottom of the graft even if it led into the board of directors.

The first conference between the accused railroaders and their attorneys led to Mr. Reid's visit to Mr. Wayman. The state's attorney was exceedingly elated when the visit was over and there is no question but that startling facts were put before him.

One of the many unanswered questions put to Messrs. Reid and Tyrrell was:

"Does the promised new sensation in the Illinois Central graft matter have to do with frauds in the department of the new road construction and maintenance of way?"

More Graft Exposed.

An attorney familiar with the Illinois Central situation declared that the graft yet to be uncovered in the road's expenditures for right of ways, new trackage and maintenance of way would make the million or so stolen by putting roofs on flat cars and the multiplication of similar petty graft "look like a flea bite." As yet the railroad company has instituted no civil suits to recover for these alleged stealings.

It is said that J. M. Harrowdale, superintendent of the car department, will be used as a witness against the three men who are now at liberty under heavy bail.

Mr. Harrowdale could not be reached today. At the Illinois Central offices—he has not yet resigned his post of superintendent of the car department—it was said that he was out of the city.

Second woman—No, I didn't. I only said that it you hadn't 'iped me to look for it I might have found it.

POPULATION OF U. S. SYMMETRICAL

CENTER OF POPULATION STILL AT COLUMBUS, IND.

Percentage of Growth in Oklahoma Highest in Country—Texas Has Also Grown Fast.

EAST HAS KEPT UP TO FACE

Washington, Aug. 22.—Columbus, Ind., is not destined to lose any prestige it may have enjoyed during the last decade from being marked on the census maps as the place nearest the center of population. It probably will continue to be in the vicinity of that mark after the full developments of the thirteenth census become known, unless the estimates of the census bureau officers fail.

The returns received to date indicate a fairly even growth in all directions from the present central point, the result of which must be to leave the point at its present general neighborhood. Only a small percentage of the total population has been announced thus far, but enough is shown by the general trend to justify some generalizations. Probably the most important of these is that the eastern states are holding their own to such an extent as to indicate that the "pull" of the west will not be sufficient to disturb greatly the present equilibrium.

With some exceptions the east is showing as marked growth as the west. Probably there will not be as pronounced gains in individual cases, but the average bids fair to be almost if not quite as good.

Increase in Oklahoma.

The eastern growth is attributed in the main to the development of manufacturing enterprises along the northern Atlantic seaboard. Up to date the full population of only two states, Rhode Island and Oklahoma, one east and the other west, has been announced.

The increase in Oklahoma, amounting to 193 per cent over the population of the same area in 1900, is phenomenal and is no indication of the rate of growth either in the west or in the country at large. That of Rhode Island, on the other hand, is more characteristic of natural growth in other sections similarly situated. Still, Rhode Island with her 26.5 per cent of gain is believed to be considerably above the average. If the Rhode Island increase should be maintained the country would show a total of about 96,000,000 people, whereas only 30,000,000 people are counted upon.

Oklahoma's vast augmentation is due to its attainment of statehood and to the opening up of new and rich territory. The same conditions do not exist elsewhere, for even though Arizona and New Mexico are coming in as new states, neither of them presents the attraction of Oklahoma in the way of newly available soil.

Texas Has Grown.

Many sections of the west, however, will do credit to the traditions of that region. Western Texas, for instance, will make a marked gain, as will the state of Washington in both urban and rural districts. In Oregon, Portland is sure to make a big showing, as are Los Angeles, Berkeley and Oakland in California.

The mining states of the interior mountain region probably will suffer somewhat from the failure to develop important new camps in the last decade. It has not fallen off as an industry, but as a rule it is the boom conditions attending rich discoveries that swell the census rolls in the mountains. Nevada alone meets these conditions and several new and important towns will be added as a result of mining developments in that state.

Colorado and Utah will show a healthy growth, as will also the two Dakotas. New irrigation enterprises will help out in Idaho, Montana and Wyoming. Comparisons will be in the interest of Nebraska, not only because there have been creditable additions, but because of the poor showing made in 1900 due to the padding of the census of 1890.

South Most American.

Not so much is expected of Iowa, as this state has lost heavily to other western states and to Canada. Portions of Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois have suffered from a like cause. The high price of farm lands and the tendency of well-to-do people toward small families are the two principal reasons for this falling away.

The comparatively good showing in the eastern states is due more to foreign immigration than to natural additions to the native stock. There, as in the west, the disposition in certain classes is to hold the family down to the minimum, with the result that the census rolls show correspondingly more foreign than American names.

To this tendency more than to any other circumstance will be due the fact that the central point will not be greatly changed.

Of all the southern states Texas will make the best showing, but Georgia will also manifest a very creditable growth as will also the two Carolinas. The south will continue to be the most American section in that it will show the presence of fewer immigrants from abroad than any other portion of the union.

St. Louis' Growth.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.—The census bureau announced the population of St. Louis as 687,929, an increase of 111,791, or 19.4 per cent, as compared with 576,138 in 1900. In 1880 St. Louis was the fifth city and Boston fourth. St. Louis then had 350,518, which was 12,000 less than Boston. Between 1880 it passed the latter, being 3,000 ahead in 1890, in 1900 it led Boston by 15,000.

Atlanta Has 151,830.

The population of Atlanta, Ga., is 151,830, an increase of 61,967, or 72.3 per cent, as compared with 89,872 in 1900.

The population of Waterbury, Conn., is 73,111, an increase of 27,282, or 59.5 per cent, as compared with 45,829 in 1900.
